

Brett Clemmer

Brett Clemmer is a husband, father, disciple-maker, outdoor enthusiast, and avid Boston sports fan.

Brett joined Man in the Mirror in 2000 and serves as President. His passion is to make the church relevant to younger men and men on the fringe. He breaks through resistance that many men feel toward spiritual topics with his use of personal stories and humor.

Brett and his wife Kimberly live in just outside of Orlando, Florida, where they have raised a couple of great kids. His latest hobby is riding a mountain bike (sometimes into gator infested rivers).
